Esnatech & Damovo Argentina mobility & wireless messaging for the Argentinian marketplace

Esnatech partners with Damovo Argentina to launch & distribute the industry leading Telephony Office-LinX platform in Argentina.

Richmond Hill, Ont., Canada & Buenos Aires, Argentina. December 30, 2005 --

Esnatech, a leader in Unified Communications platforms, continues to expand its marketplace for enterprise mobility and wireless messaging by partnering with Damovo Argentina of Buenos Aires, Argentina to launch and market Esnatech's line of Unified Communication solutions in the country.

The Unified Communications market is growing strongly in Latin America, mostly in Argentina. Damovo Argentina will be distributing and servicing the Telephony Office-LinX solution to its 500-plus direct customers throughout Argentina, as well as working closely with service providers and data resellers to market and install the Esnatech platform throughout the region.

"Consolidating a company as a market leader is always a challenge, but when you enter with a strong local presence by partnering with a group that provides both technical and marketing expertise, your chances for success increase tremendously." - Mohammad Nezarati, CEO, Esnatech. "With their market presence and our line of Unified Communication solutions, together we can quickly establish ourselves as leaders in the Argentinian market." explains Nezarati.

"We are very pleased with the decision that Esnatech made to trust Damovo and we believe that with the background and experience in communication solutions worldwide, we can offer high value solutions to the local market. At Damovo, we consider that the convergence of communications is essential for the good development of our customer's businesses. This is the reason why we have selected Esnatech as our partner so we can make this growth together." Jose Requejo, President, Damovo Argentina.
